OUR SUPPLY CHAINS

Although operating in various locations, we believe that the risk of modern slavery for our business, and in our sector, is low. Our employees and contractors are largely professionals who have significant scientific and professional training. Our business does not operate in areas particularly at risk of slavery and human trafficking. We require our suppliers to comply with all UK laws, rules and regulations.

OUR POLICIES AND TRAINING ON SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

KWS UK LIMITED is committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. Our Code of Business Ethics reflects our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls.

All our employees are required to read and understand this code. Employees are expected to report concerns and management are expected to act upon them. Employees who fail to follow established guidelines and training are subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

DUE DILIGENCE PROCESSES FOR SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

As part of our initiative to identify and mitigate risk, we comply with the UK's employment and social security laws. We do not tolerate slavery or human trafficking.

We have complete management visibility of all employees in the UK. Strict control is operated.

SUPPLIER ADHERENCE TO OUR VALUES

We are currently developing a programme whereby all our suppliers will be subject to reviews, as part of our consideration to do business with them. For example:

- we will request information about the direct suppliers' supply chain
- we will put measures in place to make sure that the KWS Group Code of Business Ethics for Suppliers is signed by our suppliers. This Code of Business Ethics includes avoiding the use of forced labour and/or exploit child labour.
- where it is deemed to be appropriate by KWS we may carry out audits at our supplier's facilities and monitor adherence to the KWS Group Code of Business Ethics for Suppliers.

If at any point a supplier does not meet its obligations, and/or we suspect or know of slave labour and human trafficking issues, we will discontinue the use of that supplier. This is unlikely to happen given the context of the industry in which we operate.

We have in place systems to:

- Make our suppliers sign KWS Group Code of Business Ethics for Suppliers..
- Identify and assess potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Monitor potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Protect whistle blowers.

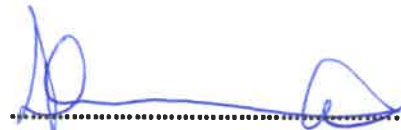

Whilst we will have processes in place, it is important to note that we are in the process of liaising with various parties to ensure that slavery and human trafficking issues are sufficiently dealt with and this may mean delegation to others.

We are confident that within our own business there are no issues with slavery and human trafficking, and we are committed to preserving our excellent reputation.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 30 June 2020.
